

A.D.E.T Analysis of Sprint Corporation 5/5/2020

Let's talk about Sprint Corporation and why this stock is SELL. T-Mobile has acquired Sprint which is what we will be talking about. Their current stock price and gain/loss statistics for May 5th, 2020 5pm is listed below.

Stock price: $86.59

Gain/Loss: -2.38 -2.68%

We have aggregated the historical data for TMUS starting from 2012 until May 5th, 2020 here are our results.

Our algorithms predicted that the closing price for May 5th, 2020 would be $178.64.

Notable Future Events:

- July 23rd Second Quarter Earnings Released
- August 8th Third Quarter Earnings Released

TMUS stock rose by 0.97% in 2019 when TMUS released their second quarter earnings report and rose 0.98% when TMUS released their third quarter earnings report. Since T-Mobile recently acquired Sprint the stock is more volatile due to handling all of Sprint's affairs during the merger.

Recommendation

Given what we have for TMUS we are predicting that the stock will remain volatile over the next couple of weeks due to the current merger underway, the market viewing TMUS is a strong bearish view since acquiring Sprint. We recommend not buying anymore TMUS stock due to its volatility and to hold any current shares until the stock price stabilizes.